PAUL'S LAST JOURNEY TO JERUSALEM

LESSON TEXT—Acts 20:1-21:17.
GOLDEN TEXT—Remember the words of the Lord Jesus how he said, It is more blessed to give than to receive.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Paul Tells His Friends Good-by.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—What Our Pastor Does for Us.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Paul, Shepherd of the Churches.

I.—Paul's Visit to Greece and Miletus (20:1-16).

Two incidents marked this trip:

1. The Jews laid wait for him (vv. 1-5). This plot obliged him to retrace his steps through Macedonia instead of choosing a more rapid sea voyage.

2. Followingship with the disciples at Troas (vv. 6-16). He met with them around the table of the Lord and spoke words of encouragement. While preaching here, Eutychus in a deep sleep, fell from a window and was killed. Paul restored his life, thus giving to the disciples a sign of divine power which was greatly needed at that time.

II. Paul's Farewell to the Ephesian Elders (20: 17-38).

1. Review of his three years' ministry (vv. 18-21). (1) The spirit of his ministry (v. 19). He was humble, tender and faithful in spite of the many trials which befell him. (2) The faithfulness of his ministry (vv. 20-21). He made known unto them everything which was of profit, taught them both in public and in private. He neglected no class, Jews or Greeks. He was impartial in all his ministry. (3) The theme of his ministry (v. 21). Repentance and faith. Men and women need to repent of their sins and believe on the Lord Jesus Christ.

2. The present state of things (vv. 22-27). Having reviewed his ministry, he now points out clearly, (1) His immediate purpose was to go to Jerusalem (v. 22). (2) Bonds and afflictions were lying across his path (v. 23). Despite these he went forward with undaunted courage, knowing that God was leading him. (3) His fixed purpose (v. 24). He was determined to complete his ministry at whatever cost—even giving up his life. (4) His consciousness of obligation discharged (vv. 25-27). Knowing that they should see his face no more, he called them to record that he had not shunned to declare the whole counsel of God, therefore was free from the blood of all men.

3. His charge to the elders (vv 28-35). (1) The ground of (v. 28). The flock for which they must care was purchased by the precious blood of Jesus and they had received their commission from the Lord. (2) The impending evils (vv. 29, 30). False teachers would arise from their own number. (Grievous wolves would devour the flock. The most deadly foes of the church are those ministers and Sunday-school teachers who are unfaithful to their trust. (3) Incentives to faithfulness (vv. 31-35). His own example of watching night and day for three years is held up before them.

III. Paul Tarrying Seven Days at Tyre (21:1-6).

His destination was Jerusalem. He was pressing thitherward with all speed, but on account of the unloading of the ship he was obliged to wait at Tyre for seven days. During this delay he searched out the disciples who lived in that city. While here certain disciples said Paul should not go to Jerusalem. The information which these disciples received by the Spirit was doubtless the same as that given to Agabus (vv. 10, 11). Agabus told exactly what the Spirit said, which sets right what the Tyrian disciples seemed to say. We should give heed to proper saying, but should prove their utterances. Let all who claim to speak with the Holy Spirit give the exact words so that they can be subjected to legitimate tests. The same Spirit which showed to these disciples that suffering awaited Paul, revealed unto him the same suffering and sent him forward into it.

IV. Paul Tarrying in Philip's House (vv. 7-14).

Resuming their journey they paused briefly at Ptolemais to greet the brethren there, after which they went to Cæsarea. Here they took up their abode with Philip who had so successfully wrought in the early days of the church. His four daughters doubtless are mentioned to show that the Spirit's gifts are not confined to one sex.

V. Paul at Jerusalem (vv. 15-17).

The brethren at Jerusalem gladly received him and his companions. Paul's lodging place was with an old disciple.

Little Things

Little foxes that spoil the vineyards: Little compromises with the world; disobedience to the still small voice in little things; little indulgences of the flesh to the neglect of duty; little strokes of policy; doing evil in little things that good may come; and the beauty, and the fruitfulness of the vine are sacrificed.—J. Hudson Taylor.

EVERGREEN

The autumn flowers and foliage are beautiful now in their various colors, we feel sad to think that old king frost will soon cut them down, but so is nature.

Mrs. O. P. Farrar, who was appointed a delegate to the annual Methodist Conference which met in Lynchburg last week has returned home and reports a grand time.

Rev. Z. V. Johnston, who was once pastor here preached a splendid sermon at the Methodist church Sunday night. We were glad to have him with us again.

Mrs. John Young, who has been with her sister Mrs. Lawrence Young, at Baptist Hospital in Lynchburg, has returned home and reports that Mrs. Yonng is improving.

Mrs. Ella Jennings, who has been suffering very much with a joint fellon on her hand is improving.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Paulette and Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Farrar attended the Methodist Conference in Lynchburg last week and had the pleasure of meeting many of their old friends and former pastors, they report a splendid Conference.

Frances, little daughter of Mr. Clarence Evans, who was operated on for the second time at Memorial Hospital has returned to her home here and we hope she will soon be well.

Miss Blanie Evans is visiting her sister, Mrs. Wayne Gregg, in Hopewell.

Miss Myrtle Evans of Lynchburg, was week-end guest of her home people here.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Farrar were guests of Mrs. M. H. Marks, near Oakville, Sunday.

SPOUT SPRING

Mrs. O. T. Jamerson and mother spent part of last week at Cleveland, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. George Jamerson and son, Ernest, and Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Jamerson spent Sunday in Lynchburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Wooten and children, of Crewe, spent the week-end with friends and relative at Spout Spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Earley Franklin, of Hollywood, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Julian Franklin.

Mr. McCormick and Ernest Jamerson are in Lynchburg.

We are having some very nice weather at this time.

Misses Virginia Holt and Virginia Chick gave a surprise party to Miss Frances Coleman Saturday night, October 20th. A delightful time was reported. Those present were: Frances Coleman, Lucy Chick, Mabel and Louise Cyrus, Evelyn Cullop, Margaret Neighbors, Elizabeth and Ruth Robertson, Christine Wheeler, Virginia Chick, Virginia Holt, Messrs. Francis Hamilton, Howard Robertson, Eugene Roberts, Richard Smith, Ivan Scruggs, Marshall Stratton, Clyde Thomas, Max and John Wheeler.

PLAN TREK FROM MISSOURI TO COAST

Covered Wagon Train to Traverse Old Trail.

Kansas City, Mo.—Widespread interest in the covered wagon train which will set out from here next spring for Sacramento, Calif., is being indicated by letters received by the Chamber of Commerce and Capt Charles E. Davis, sponsor of the train, from many parts of the country.

The letters, which contain information relative to covered wagons, oxteams and old trails, come from old "bull whackers" (ox team drivers), historical societies and persons interested in the reproduction of the life of 1849.

The covered wagon caravan is expected to start from the old Westport Landing and travel to Sacramento to take part in the eightieth annual celebration of the gold rush of '49.

Captain Davis' contention that many historical societies do not have sufficient information about the covered wagon days has been proved in part by discovery that the Kansas State Historical society has been unable to assist in giving information about the covered wagon caravans.

One or ine letters received was from J. B. Long, sixty-five years old, Claremore, Okla., who said he had not handled a team of oxen for several years, but believes he can hit a fly with a nine-foot whip, such as used by "bull whackers."

Long said plenty of ozen teams could be obtained in southern lumber camps.

Another bit of information received in the letters is that some of the covered wagons were equipped with speedometers.

Some of the wagon wheels, the informant wrote, were as much as eight feet in diameter. The speedometers on the wagon consisted of a stick fastened on a spoke so it would strike a part of the wagon. A member of the party would keep record of the number of times the stick struck the wagon.

At the end of the day's journey, the number of miles covered would be computed from the number of revolutions the wagon wheel had made.

Thus the number of miles from one place to another was learned and maps were made showing the distances between landmarks, trading posts, water holes, rivers and other important places along the trails.

Better Wings Sought for Safer Airplanes

Washington—Safer and steeper airplanes for both civil and military aviation is the objective of the national advisory committee for aeronautics, engaged in continuing research in all the branches of aerodynamics, according to an oral statement by E. H. Chamberlain, acting secretary of the committee.

Explaining that the committee has been concentrating on the matter of airplane design with a view of reducing the hazard of aircraft and at the same time lower the construction costs, Mr. Chamberlain said that these studies have revolved primarily around wing construction. "A plane is no better than its wings," he said, and for that reason the major part of the experimental work at the committee's laboratory at Langley field, Virginia, has been in this direction.

New Coal Fields Found in Siberia

Washington.—The discovery of large coal mines in Siberia is reported, the Department of Commerce was advised by the assistant commercial attache at Paris, Daniel J. Reagan.

The report says: "Large coal mines in the Khabarovsk region, in the district of Tomlompak, Asiatic Russia, have been discovered according to news received from Novosibirsk, by the expedition led by the geologist Jemtchoujnikov. It is said the coal is the same as that extracted from the Tcheremkhov mines, and specimens of this coal have been sent for a minute analysis.

"It is said also that the discovery of these mines will have considerable weight in deciding the question of the construction of a railroad in the Lena region, which latter would be of advantage to the mining enterprises in that country."

Landmark Razed

Chardon, Ohio.—Long a famous landmark of northeastern Ohio, the old Geauga seminary at Chester, where President James A. Garfield attended school as a boy, has been torn down.

Blind, Builds Home

Wayne, N. J.—Francis A. Burdette, sixty-three, totally blind for 15 years, has built himself an eight-room two-story-and-one-half house.

Thames Island Lures Speculators to Ruin

London.—The Island of Lost Gold in the Thames which an old broken succession of ill luck has attached to Tegg's Island in the Thames near Hampton Court.

One after the other, successive owners of the island have passed a great hopes of fortune upon it. and have lost almost all they possessed. Hundreds of thousands of pounds have been lost by its former lessees.

BOOKS SO SMALL SPOON HOLDS 12

Owner Has 700 Volumes in Unusual Library.

Boston.—What is authoritatively said to be the world's largest collection of unusual little books done into He under dust-protecting glass, within the dining room of some great museum or library. It is gathered in a little house in Brookline.

The collection is the property of James D. Henderson, a Boston real estate dealer, and consists of approximately 700 "volumes," few of which are more than three inches high. Many are small enough to rest comfortably on a two-cent postage stamp.

In fact, a dozen among the collection may lay valid claim to ranking among the world's smallest books. Mr. Henderson demonstrates that 12 volumes may be supported at once in a single tablespoon.

The books used for this literary feat are a Koran; an English dictionary of 12,000 words; a Galileo book, said to be the smallest in the world with a moveable type; a Testament; the Mite, which up to 1890 was rated the world's smallest book; a Robert Burns; a Petit Poucet; the French constitution, in a gold-stamped leather binding; a Gita, written in Sanskrit; a Tasche Kalender; a Toms Mosche, judged the smallest of Jewish books; and a book of Scottish-Irish songs, with the music included.

German Plans to Stop Wrecks With Light Rays

Berlin.—Light rays in future will prevent railroad disasters if the invention of a Munich engineer named Basseler stands the test. His device consists of a number of mirrors, which, placed along the tracks, control the speed of trains and have power to halt an engine if it runs past the block stations.

As a train passes light from the locomotive strikes the mirrors. If the section is closed the rays are transferred to a selenic cell, which becomes a conductor, closes the electric circuit, and automatically puts the brakes in action.

To prevent too sudden a stoppage of the train the mirrors are placed at special distances apart. On passing the first mirror the speed will be reduced to 60 kilometers (about 37 miles) in case of danger; the second and third mirrors bring the speed down to 40 and 20 kilometers, while the fourth mirror stops the train completely.

It is claimed that the mirrors, which have a peculiar construction, can be used in all kinds of weather and are absolutely reliable. The invention may also be used to reduce the speed of trains when passing dangerous curves. Whether the device will be acquired by the Reichsbahn depends on the final result of the tests now being made by the technical scientific commission.

NERVES
Went to Pieces

"I suffered a long time, before I tried Cardui," says Mrs. Lillie Smith, 130 "E" St., Anderson, S. C. "I was badly run-down in health. My nerves were in a pitiable condition. I got so bad off, I could not bear to have anybody talk across the floor of my room. The least little thing upset me. Sometimes I became hysterical. I had bad pains in my back and sides, and my head and limbs ached nearly all the time. I was suffering, which almost set me wild.

"One day I saw where a woman, who had a trouble like my own, had been relieved by Cardui. I decided at once to try it. It began to help me from the very first. I took Cardui regularly, for several months, and my improvement was so remarkable my family and friends were delighted."

Try Cardui for your troubles.

Cole—Harvey

The marriage of Miss Nellie Byrd Harvey and J. Oscar Cole took place at the Presbyterian Manse, at Appomattox, Va., on Saturday evening at nine o'clock; the ceremony being performed by the bride's pastor, Rev. R. E. Redding. The bride was attired in a brown dress of crepe romaine, with velvet trimmings and accessories to match.

The bride is a attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Harvey, of Appomattox, Va., formerly of Durham, N. C. and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Cole, of Appomattox, and is an active young business man of Appomattox.

Immediately after the ceremony the happy couple left for points of interest in Virginia and West Virginia.

After their trip they will return to their home here, where they will be much entertained by their host of friends.

Mrs. Mary S. Webb

This splendid christian woman and widow of the late Henry Webb died at her home in the northeastern section of Appomattox county, October 13th, 1928, in the 72nd year of her age. Mrs. Webb united with the Presbyterian church at Hixburg about 18 years ago. Deceased was noted for her neighborly, generous spirit. She is survived by four children — Van B. Webb Farmville, Miss Stella and J. R. Webb of Appomattox county, Miss Nannie Webb of Baltimore, Md.; also one sister, Mrs. Joanna Carter, Mendon, W. Va. and two brothers—W. A. and J. R. Lewis of this county. Remains were interred in the family burying ground at the home of her brother, J. R. Lewis, in the presence of a large number of friends Sunday p. m. Services were conducted by her pastor Rev. R. E. Redding. The floral designs were beautiful and profuse.

Julian Wooldrige

This young man, the youngest son of Mr. G. W. Wooldrige of Bedford, died Saturday night, October 6th, from injuries received when struck by an automobile, as he attempted to cross Bridge Street. Julian thought from between two cars parked on side of street, when this car a roadster, driven by Bernice Cottrell struck him, knocking him about twenty feet. The accident was said to be unavoidable. It happened about 9 o'clock and he died three hours later. His side was crushed, but he was not unconscious when taken up, for he called for his father and it was known he could not last long, a physician and ambulance was summoned at once and he was taken to his home on Crenshaw Street instead of the hospital, where he died about 12 o'clock.

Julian was twenty-five years of age and is survived by his father, three brothers, Malcomb, Horace and Hamer, of Bedford, and two sisters, Miss Gladys Woolridge, of Asco, W. Va., and Mrs. T. R. Carey, of Sullivan, W. Va.

Funeral services were conducted from Timber Ridge Baptist Church by his pastor, Rev Lane, assisted by Rev. Grey and Rev. Wilkinson. Interment was made by his mother in the cemetery adjoining the church.

The floral tributes were carried by his cousins and other friends and were beautiful especially the blanket furnished by the family.

This young man was a brother of Miss Gladys Woolridge, who graduated at Appomattox High School several years ago and a nephew of A. S. Woolridge, of this county, his father, Walker Woolridge, was one of your townsmen some years ago and was born and reared in Appomattox county and he has the sympathy of a host of friends in this county in this sad hour.

Reunion

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Caldwell, of near Lynchburg, entertained their brothers and sisters on October 7th, in honor of their son, Raymond and wife, of Toledo, Ohio. The former is home recuperating, having lost his limb in July. Many of the nieces and nephews were also present and added very much to the merriment of the occassion.

At noon the guests were invited into the dining room, where an old-fashioned country dinner was served, consisting of ham, chicken, vegetables, pickle, salads, cake and pie.

After dinner the guests assembled and everyone joined in the conversation recalling many pleasant incidents of childhood days.

The oldest member, a civil war veteran, found pleasure in relating to the younger members, facts concerning his courting days. Music was enjoyed and many of the old-fashioned hymns played and sung, lead by the younger ones, but was soon blended by the voices of the older members. Everyone present seemed to enjoy themselves thoroughly and regretted when they had to bid farewell to friends, some of which they hadn't seen for years. Everyone expressed a desire to meet again soon.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Caldwell of Toledo Ohio, Miss Mattie Caldwell, Mr. Henry Caldwell, Mr. R. E. Caldwell and daughters, Misses Gracie and Janie, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Marshall and sons, Gordon and Eugene, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Caldwell, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Caldwell and little son, H. H. Jr., all of Appomattox. Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Schaubach of Crewe, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Cheatham of Forest, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Caldwell and children, Evelyn, Irene, William and little grandson, Ray Caldwell Covington.

Ex-Kaiser Still Signs Himself "All Highest"

Amerongen.—German visitors to the home of the ex-kaiser at Doorn receive a card signed "by order of the All highest," according to "De Telegraaf," in a spirited article condemning royalist intrigues.

The article points out that Wilhelm Hohenzollern abdicated the throne and his rights ten years ago. It is absurd, it continues, for Wilhelm to continue to style himself "emperor and king."

"The practice may be nothing more than harmless vanity, but it might become a serious situation at any time," the article warns while calling upon the Dutch government to see that Wilhelm does not misuse the hospitality offered to him.

The cards are issued when visitors sign the guest book.
